DR. COOPER'S RIDE.

He Tells a "Times" Reporter His Experience While on His Recent Trip.

Dr. George Cooper, the beloved paster of the First Baptist church, has just returned to the city from his vacation, which helspent in the mountains of Virginia. Dr. Cooper, who made his trip entirely on horseback, was found in his study by a representative of The Times last evening. When requested to give some of his experience during his recent trip Dr. Cooper very kindly consented to do so

"In speaking of my recent horseback trip to Afton and neighborhood," the learned doctor began in relating his experience. "my friends have frequently asked me, Where is the pleasure in riding through the hot, sweltering sun, which is almost parboiling one's flesh?"

'In reply I can say that there were of course many discomforts in those hot days during the month of August, but to one whose life is so largely of a sedentary character, as that of a city pastor, and with such a strain on the of a city pastor, and with such a strain on the nervous system, it is a great pleasure to realize such a complete change, to be your own engineer, fireman, conductor, sleeping car porter and to follow your own sweet will, wheresoever it might lead you.

"Then, again, there is the pleasure of seeing the country as it can never be seen in the ordinary methods of travel, of meeting new friends, forming new acquaintances and worshiping on Sabbath with the country churches.

pleasure. Loundriow the celebration will be even more elaborate, and in the parade there will be several pleasing and appropriate floats. These have been erected at considerable expense, and will be a decidedly novel and pretty feature of the parade.

The programme has been perfected for the forming of the lines for the parade. The unions will all form at 8:30 A. M., and will have places as follows:

The Richmond Typegraphical Union, No. 30, will form on the south side of First street, facing Broad.

The Iron Moulders' Union, No. 128, will form on the north side of First street, facing Broad.

Cigarmakers' Union, No. 133, south side of Second street, facing Broad.

Bricklayers' Union, north side Second street.

My longest day's ride was from Cas-ble. My longest day's ride was from Cas-wick to Goochland Courthouse. "I returned glad to find that the ministry of Rev. Dr. J. C. Hayden to my people had been so pleasing and instructive. He has strengthened the love of the old First church for himself, as a friend and as a preacher of the gospel."

Dr. Cooper rode from here to Mount Olivet church, in Hanover county, where he preached in the morning and evening on Sunday. He then rode to a meeting of the Albemarle Association in Earlysville, theuce to Afton. From Afton he rode over to Nelson county, where he visited friends, from there to Angusta county, and thence on his homeward trip via Caswick and Goochland Courthouse. While on his trip Dr. Cooper preached every Sunday somewhere.

He will be at home now regularly and take up his work in all its departments, and his congregation is very glad to have the Doctor again with them.

THE DIPHTHERIA.

Two New Cases Reported, but it is Believed the Disease Will Soon Be Conquered.

There were three deaths in the city for the twenty-four hours yesterday from diphtheria. The first was Abbie West, the last of Mr. Charles W. G. West, the last of Mr. Charles W. West's family of four children, who were taxen off one by one with this dread disease. It is a source of sorrow to the entire city. Eurely does such overwhelming affliction visit a family and never was the sympathy of a community more universally felt and expressed than it is in this case.

A Class at the Young Men's Christian Association.

THE MANY ADVANTAGES OF THE ART.

There are Positions Walting For the Young Men Who Will Ayail Themselves of the Opportunity Now Offered.

During the first week of October a numper of educational classes will be opened in the building of the Young Men's Christian Association, which will be exclusively for members of that organization. The attend. ance will be practically free of charge, for while each member on entering any of the classes will have to pay $1, this money will be returned at the end of the term, provided the member has been a regular attendant.

Among the studies will be shorthand, which will be introduced for the first time in the will be introduced for the first time in the classes of the Association. There are many systems of shorthand taught in this country, but only a few of them are worth the time it takes to master them. However, none of the inferior systems are being taught in the city of Richmond, and Graham's system, which is one of the best in existence, will be taught in the class of the Association.

The shorthand profession is divided into two distinct classes. The expert or general reporter and the amanuensis, who is employed reporter and the amanuensis, who is employed for correspondence work in commerical establishments and corporations.

THE BEPORTER. The first mentioned are such as are endowed by nature with the qualifications necessary to achieve success in the highest branch of the calling. The compensation for this class of writers is rarely under $2,000 per annum.

Court reporters as a rule are receiving the best pay, many of them making from $2,500 to best pay, many of them making from $2,500 to $6,000 per annum.

Every person who takes up shorthand is not destined to become an official stenographer or verbatim reporter. Any one, however, possessing a fair education can acquire such a knowledge of the art as to lenable him to acceptably fill a good amamensis situation. This is the stepping-stone to a higher class of work. It is not necessary in any case to acquire reporting perfection before employment can be obtained. Office situations, which are the most numerous, pay from $600 to $1,500 per annum. Beginners holding such positions are reaping their harvest while they sow, gradually fitting themselves for professional duties, and at the same time receiving a handsome emolument.

It has been decided to teach in the class of the Association Graham's system of standard phonography because it possesses to the

That it is capable of developing a higher rate of speed than any other of the known systems is admitted by all who are competent to form an intelligent opinion of the merits of the different systems.

ONE OF THE BEST. Mr. Isaac Dement, of Chicago, who is acknowledged by the phonographic fraternity as one of the very best shortband writers in the world, says that "the Graham standard phonography is the grandest of all the systems of shortband." And this same gentletems of shorthand. And this same gentle-man further emphasizes his belief in this sys-tem by saying that "no other system has pro-duced an exponent who is willing to sub-stantiate his claim of speed by a demonstration with his pen." These are emphatic words, but they came from a gentleman who enjoys the reputation of having accomplished the createst feat ever from a gentleman who enjoys the reputation of having accomplished the greatest feat ever performed in shorthand, and is referred to in the Phonographic World as the champion stenographer of the world, having written from reading of entirely new matter 1,392 words in five consecutive minutes, or 278 words per minute. The authority for these figures is the Phonographic World.

Five out of seven senatorial reporters in Washington, D. C., use Graham's system, and four out of the five reporters in the House of Representatives are Graham writers. When such men as these—the heads of the profes-

Representatives are Granam writers. When such men as these—the heads of the profession—write and recommend Graham, there should be no doubt on the part of those desiring to learn shorthand as to which is the best system. This system is rapidly gaining ground in the South and is almost universally used in the Yorth and Wast. used in the North and West.

MARY TO LEARN. It is as easy to learn as any other system published and is no more difficult to learn than spelling, arithmetic, book-keeping, or any other branch of study, provided the student is in earnest.

Advocates of many other systems constantly dwell on their system being easier and simpler. They acknowledge, therefore, Graham to be the best, so that the only point left for them to claim is "ease." But the pupil who selects to claim is 'ease.' But the pupil who selects a system of shorthand because it is held to be easy has already shown himself deficient in the qualities that go to make up a good short-

Rapidity is the ruling fashion of the age The people want more express trains and faster ones every year; faster ocean steamers and quicker transit between hones and offices and more refined means of communication both by spoken and written language To what-ever hand we may turn it is only to find the same impatience of delay, the same demand for quickness and dispatch. This spirit has naturally found its way into our business houses, and wherever a large correspondence is daily carried on, there is at once a demand for the time-saving stenographer and his note

There are at least three good positions for every good amanuensis. The civil service commission have been unable to find for the past two years enough well qualified stenogra-phers to fill government positions in Wash-ington. Good stenographers are always in demand, and the question is not how to get a position, but how to obtain the necessar qualifications to fill one. The answer to the estion is to take a course in Graham's Standard Phonography at the Young Men's Christian Association during the ensuing sea-
